

DRUID-D06: Speech Protection and Audio Jamming System

The DRUID-D06 provides protection against:

- Digital and tape voice recorders
- Voice recorders built-into cellular phones
- Laser Monitoring Device
- Wired and wireless microphones
- Stethoscopes, etc.

The DRUID-D06 is a unique system for providing protection for human's speech. Not all listening devices can be detected by existing methods. Remotely controlled radio microphones, wired microphones, passive resonators, miniature voice recorders – practically all these devices cannot be detected by conventional methods. Even a modern cellular phone may contain a digital voice recorder; this means that any phone lying on the desktop could be used by an adversary to record a conversation.

Bearing the above points in mind it is extremely important to have a reliable device protecting private conversations not depending on their level of importance. The concept of the DRUID is based on generating audio interference produced simultaneously with a human's speech. The volume of this interference is higher than of a person's voice; therefore neither a listening device nor a recorder is able to pick it up.

The generated audio interference cannot be cleared by any noise-clearance methods. At the same time the produced interference does not create any inconvenience to the participants of the negotiation thanks to the special headsets. The DRUID headset allows users to hear each other with crystal quality. Each headset has a built-in RF detector which will guarantee protection against bugs which can be carried in the ear.

Features

- Professional system for protecting speech between up to 6 people.
- Protects against all known methods of listening, including all types of radio microphones, stethoscopes, voice recorders, passive resonators, wired microphones, etc.
- Absolutely harmless to your health – no microwave reflections or ultrahigh sound noise
- Compared to a white-noise generator the DRUID-D06 provides a much higher level of protection; Acoustical white noise does not jam digital voice recorders completely even at a high volume;
- The system is portable – supplied in a plastic carry-case it can be easily prepared for use;
- Powered from an internal rechargeable battery the DRUID can work for up to 4 hours without mains supply;
- The DRUID's headsets have built-in RF detectors for protection against ear-worn microphones, so an adversary will have no possibility to transmit or record you;
- The system can be used in any situation; it is especially valuable when conducting highly important negotiations in an unknown environment;
